INTRODUCTION

The purpose of this publication is to aid in the collection, preservation and dissemination of the genealogical and historical records of the State of North Carolina - a rich heritage acquired over a period of more than three centuries - in an effort to assist those who wish to do their own genealogical research. The need for such a publication was never greater than at present, with literally millions of persons in the United States seeking to trace their ancestry, for religious, patriotic and social reasons, as well as a matter of family pride. As one of the Thirteen Original Colonies, North Carolina has contributed her share to the population of the mid-west and western states.

The ravages of War and Time have taken their toll of the colonial records of the State, but there yet remains a vast storehouse of genealogical and historical material, preserved in the State Department of Archives and History, in Raleigh, and in various of the one hundred courthouses throughout the State. The Editors shall endeavor to publish material that will aid in genealogical research, not family histories already compiled, but such vital records as wills, deeds, marriage bonds, tax lists, census and pension data. It is pointed out that most any one of these categories would be sufficient to fill the pages of The North Carolinian for many years to come. Therefore, material for publication will be carefully selected so as to benefit as many readers as quickly as possible.

The Editors gratefully acknowledge the cooperation and assistance of all those who have helped to make this publication possible, including Dr. Christopher C. Crittenden, Director, W. Frank Burton, State Archivist, and Mrs. Mary Rogers of the State Department of Archives and History; Thad A. Eure, Secretary of State, E. S. Eskridge, Director of State Publications, and Assistant Secretary of State, in charge of the Land Grant Office, and R. F. Johnston, Assistant Director; Miss Carrie L. Broughton, Librarian, and Mrs. Margaret Price of the State Library; Miss Roberta P. Wakefield, Editor of The National Genealogical Society Quarterly; George B. Everton, Editor, and Gunnar Rasmuson of The Genealogical Helper; and Adrian Ely Mount, Editor of Genealogy & History.

Following is a brief sketch of the members on the Staff of The North Carolinian, all of whom have North Carolina ancestry, and are interested in North Carolina genealogy and history either as a vocation or an avocation: Mrs. J. E. McMullan, of Warren, Indiana, graduated 1900 from Marion (Ind.) Normal College, and attended Syracuse (N. Y.) University, 1902-3; an authorized compiler, 1930-53, for the late William Wade Hinshaw. Charles E. Rush, of Chapel Hill, North Carolina, is Director Emeritus of the Library of the University of North Carolina, and Professor of Library Science; received A.B. from Earlham (Ind.) College in 1905, B.L.S. in 1908 from New York State Library School, and M.A. in 1931 from Yale (for further details, see Who's Who, 1948-9, p. 2138). Willard C. Heiss, of Indianapolis, Indiana, is Indiana's foremost authority on the various branches of the Society of Friends (Quakers) of that section of the country; compiling a comprehensive history of Randolph County, Indiana. Miss Amoret Butler, of Raleigh, North Carolina, received B.A. from Guilford College in 1946; teaches school in Raleigh. Charles R. Holloman, of Raleigh, North Carolina, a specialist with the State Budget Bureau, received B.S. from Western Carolina State College, and LL.B. from Duke University Law School; co-author of The Story of Kinston and Lenoir County (see page 30, this issue). Russell E. Bidlack, of Ann Arbor, Michigan, instructor in Library Science at the University of Michigan, where he received his Ph.D. in 1954; Editor of The Sparks Quarterly. William Perry Johnson, of Raleigh, North Carolina, professional genealogist, received A.A. from Los Angeles City College in 1950, and attended Los Angeles State College 1950-51; published 1013-page Hiatt - Hiett Genealogy in 1951.

By Charles R. Holloman, B.S., LL.B.

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following account of how a local historian made a priceless discovery is proof that perseverance can produce worthwhile results in a county where the public records have been burned. Mr. Holloman is to be highly commended for his persistance in locating the Grantee Index for Lenoir County, reportedly saved from the 1880 fire by his great-grandfather, Nathan William Potter, especially so, since this one volume is practically all that remains of the once voluminous records of the landholders of Johnston Co., 1746-1759, Dobbs Co., 1759-1791, and Lenoir Co., 1791-1880. This entire volume, covering the forty-nine deed books that were destroyed in the 1880 fire, will appear in The North Carolinian, one book at a time. A Grantor Index has been prepared from, and combined with, the Grantee Index to form one completely alphabetized list.

On October 21, 1878, the courthouse of Lenoir County at Kinston, North Carolina, was set on fire by an incendiary. The fire was discovered at about three o'clock in the morning and had made so much headway that it was not possible to save all of the records. The only records saved were those in the office of the Register of Deeds, of which only one book - Deed Book 47 - was destroyed. The deed books were then placed in a nearby building which was used temporarily as a courthouse pending the building of a new courthouse. About February 20, 1880, this building, too, burned and all of the deed records were consumed - all except one volume, the Grantee Index. There are conflicting accounts of how this volume happened to be saved from the flames. Whatever may be the true account, the report which led this writer to make a search for the old Index was told to him several years ago by an uncle, John F. Potter of Kinston, who, in talking about the Kinston fires, stated that his father, Charles William Potter (1851-1921), and his grandfather, Nathan William Potter (1812-1899), were in Kinston when the temporary courthouse burned in February 1880, and that the elder man reached through a window of the burning building and pulled the volume from a table.

The writer had, prior to the time he heard this account, been engaged in collecting bits of historical information concerning the Kinston area. Tracing the factual basis of the story, he made a visit to the Lenoir County Courthouse without locating the volume. Several years later another visit was made and the assistance of the late Register, Miss Camille Aldridge, and Assistant Register, Miss Doris Sutton, was requested. With their help, a search was made of a basement storeroom and the Grantee Index was found.

The volume was labeled simply "Lenoir County," and its contents were arranged in rough alphabetical order with each series of the alphabet divided into sections designated as "Book 1," "Book 2," "Book 3," and so on, through forty-nine books. Each entry showed the grantee, the grantor, and the page number of the original deed book. One of Lenoir County's Registers of Deeds evidently had, sometime shortly after 1791, painstakingly compiled this Grantee Index, transcribing into one volume the index to be found in each individual deed book, beginning with the old Johnston County records dating from 1746. This Index had no doubt been in use up until the day of the fire. Not a single date appeared in or on the volume (few deed Cross-Index books of that period in North Carolina were dated), but a casual inspection disclosed entries in the names of such prominent Revolutionary leaders in the area as Richard Caswell, John Herritage and James Glasgow.

Realizing that the value of the Index as a historical record could be enhanced by ascertaining the dates when the original deed books indexed therein were in use, the writer searched widely for extant original deeds in Lenoir and adjoining counties. Such deeds, of course, carry upon them a notation of the county, deed book number and page number, date registered and the name of the Register. Fortunately, several of such deeds were located, notably in the following places: (1) the Lovitt Hines Collection in the State Department of Archives and History; (2) the several volumes of Land Grants in the Office of the Secretary of State (Annex), particularly Volume 76; and (3) a volume entitled "Colonial Records" in the office of the Register of Deeds of Lenoir County. A few deeds were found in the possession of private individuals.

An exhaustive study of such deeds in connection with the entries in the Index showed that the volume not only included the records for the entire period during which Dobbs County existed (1759 to 1791), and for Lenoir County from its beginning (1791) down to 1880, but dated back to the beginning of Johnston County in November of 1746. Johnston County records at Smithfield supported this conclusion, as the oldest deed records there were dated in March 1759, just prior to the date (April 10, 1759) when Dobbs County began functioning. Furthermore, many of the early deeds found in the courthouse at Smithfield frequently made references to earlier deeds - to deeds shown in Books 1 to 5 of the old Index found in Lenoir County Courthouse.

A careful study of the history surrounding the creation of Dobbs County from Johnston County in 1759, further showed that Dobbs inherited the courthouse of old Johnston County, the county seat being located at that time on Walnut Creek, about eight miles southeast of present-day Goldsboro in Wayne County. Dobbs County also fell heir at the same time to the Clerk of Court (who also served as Register of Deeds) of old Johnston County, and, undoubtedly, to all the Johnston County records for the period 1746 to 1759.

It has been possible, therefore, to approximate the dates for each of the forty-nine deed books covered by the Index. This renders the volume of even greater value to genealogists and local historians, especially when it is remembered that the very earliest settlers in the present-day counties of Durham, Johnston, Orange, Wake and Wayne entered their records in the books burned at Kinston in 1878 and 1880. With few exceptions, this Index comprises the one and only record, meagre though it is, of the landowners of the Dobbs, Greene, Lenoir area from 1746 to 1880. Among other things, it has made possible the dating of several old churches in the area, compilation of a list of the original purchasers of lots in the town of Kinston, and the tracing of titles of certain land in the Kinston vicinity back to the original land grants.

Undoubtedly the absence of any dates in the Index, plus the loss of all forty-nine of the original deed books, accounted for the fact that it had been all but forgotten. It was neither microfilmed by the Genealogical Society of Utah, during the course of its extensive work in microfilming old county records over the state, nor listed in the survey of county records conducted in Lenoir County by Mrs. Clara E. Boney, Mrs. Ella H. Morton, Mrs. Catherine Walsh, Miss Edna Mae Walters and Mr. J. R. Raper as part of the Historical Records Survey of the Works Progress Administration about 1937.

The inadequacy of this Index as a record of our forefathers should serve to remind us of the public condemnation due to those who consign our ancestors, and theirs, to oblivion by the malicious or careless destruction of courthouse and other records of the past. Ofttimes, these old records contain all that posterity would ever know of the lives and characters of their ancestors. Our priceless heritage should be, must be, preserved.

WILKES COUNTY WILLS, BOOK ONE (1), 1778-1800[1]

By William Perry Johnson

Wilkes County's Will Book One (1778-1800) has been lost. However, it is included in the Cross-Index to Wills in the Wilkes County Clerk's Office, which Index lists both devisors (persons who devise, or will, property) and devisees (persons to whom property is devised, or willed). Also, from the abstracts appearing in Olds' North Carolina Wills From c1760 to c1800 (published in 1925)[2], it is apparent that Mr. Olds had access to the volume which is now missing. The Cross-Index lists a total of fifty-five wills for Book One; Olds lists these fifty-five, plus five more which were omitted in the Cross-Index but were undoubtedly recorded in the original volume. This makes a total of sixty wills probated in Wilkes County between 1778 and 1800; and from the way these wills were recorded throughout a volume of over five hundred pages, Will Book One had evidently been used to record other court documents also, possibly deeds.

Brief abstracts of these sixty wills appear below, in alphabetical order. Thirty-three of the original wills are preserved in the State Department of Archives and History, in Raleigh,[3] and have been used in the preparation of these abstracts, along with the Cross-Index and Olds' abstracts. The date of probate is given for each will, as well as the volume and page numbers; the surname of each devisor appears in capital

(Name pronounced, and sometimes spelled, Tiry; Olds gives it as Terry, changes Phanne to Fanny and omits daughter Susannah Pinnil or Pennel(?). Name spelled Tiry on original will; man signs by mark.)

UPCHURCH, William - July 1789 (1787 in Court Minutes and in Olds) - 1-221 (Original in Raleigh)
Devisees: Sarah (wife), and children: William, David, John, Eddy, Abel (probably Asel), Patty Good Upchurch, Elizabeth Rein (Ren?), Sarah Piller and Amey Lunsford (or Lensford). (Olds gives Abel as Afal, leaves out Patty's middle name, changes Eddy to Edey, and omits Elizabeth Rein (or Ren?), Sarah Piller and Amey Lunsford (or Lensford). He also includes a daughter, Susannah Pennill, who actually belongs in the will of John Tyre.)

WEATHERSPOON, John - December 1778 - 1-16 (The oldest will recorded in Wilkes.)
Devisees: Thomas, David, James, John, Mary, Floron, Marthen, Nancy, Jane, and Elizabeth. (Court Minutes afford the devisor the title of Esquire; Olds states that the wife was mentioned but not named, changes Floron to Flora, and Marthen to Martha.)

WEBB, John - April 1785 - 1-162 (Original in Raleigh)
Devisees: Ustley (wife), and children: Francis (son), Cutbreath and Hannah Childers (Olds spells Cutbreath as Culbreth, omits surname of Hannah. The devisor is given in the Cross-Index as "Nebb Made" rather than John Webb.)

WIANT, Peter, Sr. - January 1797 - 1-460 (Original in Raleigh)
Devisees: Wife (not named), and sons: Peter, Jr., Phillip and John. (Olds gives the name as Weant, and the date as 1799.)

WITHERSPOON, James - July 1790 - 1-280 (Court Minutes mention this as being a nuncupative will)
Devisees: John. (Olds states that this John was his brother.)

WITHERSPOON, Thomas - July 1790 - 1-279
Devisees: John, Joshua, Westley, Daniel and Darius. (Olds gives: Joshus, Fitz John Wesley and Dorcas.)

WILLBANKS, Richard - October 1790 - 1-293 (Original in Raleigh)
Devisees: Wife Priscilla, and children: William, Reubin, Nancy, Berymon, John and Henry, and Dolly Sturdie. (Olds spells the name Wilbanks; the Court Minutes spell it Woolbanks; perhaps also spelled Millbanks. Olds spells Berymon as Berryman, and designates Dolly Sturdie as a daughter.)

1800 CENSUS OF NORTH CAROLINA

Compiled by William Perry Johnson

The 1800 Census of North Carolina has been copied from either the originals, or photostats thereof, in the National Archives, Washington, D. C., or from microfilms of the same in Raleigh, North Carolina, at the State Department of Archives and History and the State Library.

In the United States, a general census has been taken every tenth year, beginning with 1790.[1] The 1790 Census included but five particulars: (1) white males aged 16 years and over, including heads of families; (2) white males under 16; (3) white females, including heads of families; (4) other free persons, "except Indians, not taxed"; and (5) slaves. The 1800 Census separated the white males and the white females and divided them into the following age groups: Under 10, 10 to 16, 16 to 26, 26 to 45, and 45 and over. Other free persons and slaves were enumerated as in 1790.[2]

Key to 1800 Census:	White Males						White Females						Other free persons		Slaves
	Under 10	10 to 16	16 to 26	26 to 45	45 & over		Under 10	10 to 16	16 to 26	26 to 45	45 & over

1- Two versions of the 1790 Census of North Carolina have been published. The first was by Walter Clark, Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of North Carolina, and was published in 1905; this is Volume XXVI of The State Records of North Carolina. The second was published in 1908 by the Federal Government. A few discrepancies have been noted in the two volumes. The index of the former volume is incomplete, and an ancestor may appear in one volume and not the other. There are many variances in spelling of the same names. Clark's volume gives more complete data from the 1790 Tax Lists of Caswell, Granville and Orange Counties (whose census returns for 1790 have been lost) than does the Government version. It is recommended that both volumes be consulted. (Clark's volume may be purchased for $5.00 from Miss Carrie L. Broughton, Librarian, State Library, Raleigh, North Carolina.)

3 - Tur.(?), Tert.(?), and Terr.(?) are evidently abbreviations for Tertiary or Third, used by the census taker when there were three persons with the same name, one being designated as Senior, one as Junior and one as Tertiary or Third.

4 - The Slave Schedule for this and the next four items was torn away.

5 - See Reference No. 3, above.

6 - Some unthinking person had repaired the original census book with semi-opaque tape which rendered practically illegible the last four columns of figures on page 378.

ABSTRACTS OF PENSION APPLICATIONS OF NORTH CAROLINA SOLDIERS OF THE REVOLUTIONARY WAR

ather than publish in alphabetical order the abstracts of pension applications of orth Carolina soldiers of the Revolutionary War, which would keep many readers waitng years for names that appear towards the end of the alphabet, and rather than hoose pension papers at random and risk the probability that many of such papers ould be of no interest to current subscribers, it was thought best to first publish he names of the pensioners (they number in the thousands) and then to publish abtracts for only the soldiers that you, the subscribers, shall choose. Therefore, ach subscriber to The North Carolinian shall be entitled to select one name per year rom the lists as they appear in this publication, or the name may be selected from he lists appearing in The National Genealogical Society Quarterly (which began with e A's and are now in the M's). Also, on the same basis, the Editors would be glad search the files in The National Archives for North Carolina Revolutionary Pensions whose names are as yet unpublished, i. e., those from M to Z. Mail all requests the Editors of The North Carolinian, Box 531, Raleigh, North Carolina. The abracts of the pension papers of North Carolina soldiers of the Revolution, as selected by subscribers to The North Carolinian, will appear in forthcoming issues of this blication, beginning with the June 1955 issue.

should be noted that hundreds of these soldiers who lived in, and served from, rth Carolina during the Revolutionary War were living in South Carolina, Georgia, abama, Mississippi, Tennessee, Kentucky, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and elsewhere at e time they applied for a pension. This list of pensioners is far from being a comete list of the men who served from North Carolina during the American Revolution, r many of the soldiers were dead before the pension laws were enacted. Also, some the soldiers did not need, or want, a pension, so did not apply. Neither does is list include soldiers who settled in North Carolina after the Revolutionary War, ving served from some other state.

ese names of persons applying to the government for pensions for service in the volutionary War from North Carolina are taken from "Supplement 1"[1] which has been nning, 64 pages a year, in The National Genealogical Society Quarterly since March 43 (prepared by Max Elsworth Hoyt, President of the Society, 1940-42, and continued Mrs. Hoyt since Mr. Hoyt's death, March 30, 1954 as a memorial to him), and reprinthere by permission of the Editor, Miss Roberta P. Wakefield, and her committee, 23 Adams Mill Road, N.W., Washington 10, D. C.

Preface[2]

he following index was made from the Revolutionary War pension and bounty land recds of the Veteran's Administration Archives in The National Archives, Washington, D. C.

he original papers in these Revolutionary War applications for pension and bounty land e in linen-lined envelopes arranged alphabetically according to the full names of the terans. In addition to the full name of the veteran, the name of the state from which e service was rendered is shown, with few exceptions, and the file number. Continent- (Conn.), or other State in parenthesis, means that the service was in the Continent- Line and the veteran a resident of the state named. Continental and Connecticut, for stance, with no parentheses, means that the service was rendered in both the Contintal and State Regiments and the veteran a resident of Connecticut. When the services were rendered in the sea forces the designations on the envelopes are Navy, State Sea Service, Privateer Service.

"In regard to the file numbers - S., W. and R. preceding numerals mean, respectively, Survivor, Widow and Rejected claims, as '(S. 4963, W. 451),' '(R. 7304).' The abbreviations, Dis., means Disability, for which the veteran was pensioned. B.L.Wt. means Bounty Land Warrant. For example - B.L.Wt. 145-100 means that 100 acres of bounty land was granted on warrant No. 145 prior to March 3, 1855, and '(B.L.Wt. 145-160-'55) means that 160 acres of bounty land was granted on warrant No. 145 under the act of Congress approved March 3, 1855, and '(B.L.Reg. - '55)' means Bounty Land Register and that the claim for bounty land under said act was rejected. When a veteran and his widow both applied for a pension all papers pertaining to both claims are in the same envelope. When a veteran's claim was admitted and his widow's claim was rejected an R precedes the file number, her application being the last adjudicated. When the words 'No papers' appear on the envelopes it means that the application papers were burned in the year 1801 or 1814.

"This index bears the caption [which appears] on each envelope. (Originals were all made under oath and were often supported by Bible records.)"

BOOK REVIEW

The Story of Kinston and Lenoir County, by Talmage C. Johnson and Charles R. Holloman (Raleigh: Edwards and Broughton Company, 1954); pp. xvi, 413, illustrations, appendix and index; $6.00

Included in this volume, just off the press, is a history of the area from the Sixteen Century down to the present, biographical sketches of business and professional leader and, in the Appendix, the 1720 Tax List of Craven County (which included the Dobbs and Lenoir area), and the 1769 Tax List of Dobbs County (which included present-day counti of Greene, Lenoir and Wayne, and a part of Wilson), as well as other material of value to the genealogist and historian. The task of compiling this county history was unusu ally difficult due to the loss by fire of the Dobbs and Lenoir County records in 1878 and 1880, but which makes the work of even greater value. Persons interested in Dobbs (now Lenoir) County, will want to add this worthwhile book to their library. -WPJ

WITNESSES TO NORTH CAROLINA QUAKER MARRIAGES

By William Perry Johnson

ker marriages in North Carolina date from 1677, and the only place these marriages e recorded, from that date up until around 1850, was in the meticulously kept rec- books that the Society of Friends (Quakers) have maintained from its beginning in middle of the Seventeenth Century up to the present. Beginning about 1850, Quaker riages were also registered in civil offices, when Quakers obtained marriage bonds licenses for the first time in their history. Quakers were quite numerous in North olina from before 1700 to past 1800, and thousands of marriages were recorded in the dozen or so Monthly Meetings. It was the custom for the parents and other close atives of the bride and groom to sign the marriage certificate which was issued by Monthly Meeting to the couple as documentary proof of their wedlock according to rules of the Society of Friends. Occasionally, the names of non-Quaker friends relatives appear as witnesses on these Quaker marriage certificates. Other genea- ical data may be gleaned from these Quaker marriage records, such as places of res- nce for the bride and groom and their parents, and information as to whether the ents were living or deceased.

New Garden Monthly Meeting, Guilford County, North Carolina

Garden was settled around 1750 by Quakers from Pennsylvania, Virginia and Mary- d, who located where Guilford College is now situated, about six miles west of sent-day Greensboro. Cane Creek Monthly Meeting in Orange (now Alamance) County, th Carolina, had authorized a meeting for worship at New Garden in 1751, and in 4 New Garden became a Monthly Meeting. Guilford County, at one time a part of ien and Anson Counties, was formed in 1770 from Orange and Rowan Counties, and luded the present-day counties of Randolph and Rockingham until they were formed 1779 and 1785, respectively. New Garden Monthly Meeting embraced a large area many years, including sections of Forsyth, Davidson, Guilford and Randolph Coun- s, and had under its jurisdiction meetings with members residing in the counties Wilkes, Yadkin, Surry and Stokes, and the State of Tennessee. The genealogy of y Quaker meetings can be traced back to New Garden.

earliest marriage at New Garden occurred the 22nd of 4 Mo. 1752, when John Hiatt ried Sarah Hod(g)son.[1] Following is a full copy of their marriage certificate:

> New Garden: Whereas John Hiatt, son of George Hiatt, of Bladen County in North Carolina, and Sarah Hodson, daughter of George Hodson, of the same place, having declared their intentions of marriage with each other before several of the Monthly Meetings of the people called Quakers at New Garden in the county afsd., and having consent of parents and parties concerned, their said intentions was approved of: And they left to their liberty to accomplish their marriage according to good order, the which they did on the 22d of ye 4 Mo. 1752 in the presents of many witnesses, twelve of whose names are inserted, To Wit:
